PART 2: GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

2.1. OBLIGATIONS OF THE LANDLORD

Art. 9. Basic obligations with regard to safety, health and amenities

The landlord promises to adhere to the regulations of the Brussels Housing Code.

The landlord declares having received the quality label "quality student housing" for the rented property, this in accordance with article 254 of the Brussels Housing Code and the decree of the Brussels Government dd. 16 November 2017 (cross square if this is the case).

Art. 10. Maintenance and repairs

In accordance with the relevant legal provisions, all technical maintenance and repairs are the responsibility of the landlord. The tenant must immediately, in writing, notify the landlord of any damages or defects requiring repairs. The landlord undertakes to have the repairs carried out as soon as possible. The landlord can carry out small maintenance jobs in the accommodation or have them carried out. For major repairs, a suitable moment is to be decided upon in consultation with the tenant(s). The landlord will, however, carry out no repairs during the revision or the examination periods, with the exception of urgent repairs. All requested alterations or renovations have to be clearly described.

Art. 15. Quiet enjoyment

During the term of the agreement, the tenant has the property uninterruptedly at his disposal. The landlord undertakes to ensure the quiet enjoyment of the accommodation. He is only allowed access to the rented property for reasons of hygiene, safety, technical maintenance, re-letting or in case of circumstances beyond one's control.

Art. 12. Insurances

The landlord must adequately insure the building against the risks of fire, electrical damage, explosions, water damage, storm damage, lightning strikes, attacks and neighbour nuisance, with a waiver of subrogation in favour of the tenant.

Art. 13. Registration

The landlord will take the necessary measures in order to register this contract within two months.

2.2. OBLIGATIONS OF THE TENANT

Art. 14. Subletting and transfer of tenancy

Subletting the accommodation, placing it at the disposal of others or transfers of tenancy are prohibited without the landlord's written permission. All forms of trade or industry or professional activities are also explicitly forbidden and can only be permitted after the landlord's written agreement. In particular must the tenancy agreement under no circumstances become subject to Commercial Tenancy Law. If the landlord were to be taxed because of the fact that the tenant uses the rented property for professional purposes, this taxation will be exclusively paid by the tenant.

Art. 15. Quiet enjoyment

The tenant is not allowed to keep animals in the rented property or to let animals stay there.

Both parties, as well as third parties to whom they may have granted access, must refrain from any activities that might disturb the peace and quiet of the other occupants of the building or neighbours.

Art. 16. Damages and depreciation

The tenant is responsible for all damages or depreciation caused by himself or by a third party to whom he allowed access to the accommodation. The tenant must also take the necessary precautions to prevent frost damage in the accommodation. It is the landlord's responsibility to protect all installations from frost damage. With the exception of repairs at the expense of the landlord, normal use, maintenance or wear and tear, the tenants are supposed to be jointly liable for all damages inflicted on the communal areas and safety installations, when the individual(s) responsible for the damage is/are unknown.

Art. 17. Insurance of the home contents

The tenant will insure his personal belongings against all risks deemed necessary by him, at his own expense, with a waiver of recourse in favour of the landlord. It may be possible to have the tenant's parents' fire insurance policy cover this risk.

DEEL 3: POSSIBILITIES OF TERMINATING THE TENANCY AGREEMENT

Art. 18. Termination at the expense of a party

The landlord and the tenant explicitly agree that the following situations, at least, are to be considered serious shortcomings by the tenant, and that they are such that they would justify the landlord's possible claim for the judicial dissolution of the present agreement at the expense of the tenant:

- serious reasons due to the behaviour of the tenant as a result of which the original purpose of the accommodation as a place for study risks being compromised;
- if the rent arrears exceed 2 months' rent.

The re-letting fee which is then due consists of 3 months' net rent (rent without the costs and charges).

Art. 19. Premature termination

The rent concluded for a period of less than three months cannot be terminated prematurely.

If the rent is concluded for a period of more than three months, the tenant can terminate the rent at all times and causeless, through a termination notice of two months. In this case, he will not owe any compensation to the landlord.

The tenant can also terminate the contract before the commencement of the rent, provided by article 3, this under the condition there are just motives and the notice has been sent at least one month before the commencement. In this case, a compensation of one month of rent will be paid to the landlord.

The termination takes effect on the first day of the month following the month in which notice was served.

Notice must in all cases be sent by registered letter. A copy of this letter must be sent to Brik.

When the tenant dies and the rent and/or costs remain unpaid for a period of two months afterwards, the landlord can consider the tenancy to be terminated without any notice nor compensation.

Art. 20. Prior attempt at reconciliation

Each dispute with regard to the interpretation, the execution or the termination of this tenancy agreement can be submitted to Brik, at the request of one of the parties involved, prior to bringing the case before the court. This service will then as soon as possible formulate a proposal to reconcile both parties. The parties retain the initiative to take further steps, if necessary legal ones. Only Belgian law applies and only the courts of the judicial district of Brussels are competent.

Art. 21. Final provisions

This tenancy agreement can also be complemented by health and safety regulations that have previously been communicated to the tenant. In that case, the tenant must adhere to these regulations. Both parties must subscribe these regulations and the signed copies must be attached to all copies of the tenancy agreement. Their content may under no circumstances be contrary to or detract from the stipulations in the tenancy agreement.

The tenant declares that the landlord has informed him that further explanation concerning the legal framework provided by the Brussels Government can be found on the website of Brik vzw (www.brik.be/annexart218), this in accordance with article 218, §5 Brussels Housing Code. Therefore, the tenant confirms explicitly that he does not request a printed version of this text.
